Haas Named Commander Of 28th Society

PHILADELPHIA — Horatio W. Haas, Jr., East Stroudsburg, RD 3, has been elected national commander of the Society of the 28th Division, AEF, which ended a four-day convention here Saturday.

Nelson P. Silfee of 737 Sarah St., Stroudsburg, was appointed national adjutant.

In other action, Maj. Gen. Henry F. Fluck, commander of the division in the Pennsylvania National Guard, presented a citation to the 103rd Engineers Battalion for work done in the Stroudsburg area during last Summer's disaster emergency.

Members of the division staged a gala parade in the center of the city before adjourning their convocation. Included in the parade was a World War I automobile, owned by Stroudsburg Post 56, on which was painted the names of famous 28th Division battles. The march ended at Independence Hall.

The new national commander, known to his friends as "Rache," began his record of service in the 28th following in the footsteps of his father, who was wounded in World War I, while serving with Company G, 109th Infantry.

Haas himself entered the same outfit on Feb. 17, 1941, and trained and fought with it until he was wounded in Northern France on Aug. 6, 1944. After being hospitalized, he was discharged on Nov. 16, 1946.

Even prior to his discharge, Haas joined local Post 56, and subsequently served for two terms as its commander.

In 1950, he was elected national vice-commander, a post from which he resigned in August, 1950 to re-enter active military service. He served with Company G during the Korean Conflict, and was discharged on Aug. 28, 1952. During this period, he was appointed national aide.

During 1953-54, Haas served as central vice-commander, in addition to trustee of Post 56. In 1954, he was elected national vice-commander and also served as vice-president of the convention corporation.

Following last summer's disaster, "Rache" was appointed national chairman of the flood relief committee.

Other officers elected were Harold Feidler, Erie, vice-commander; Robert Burke, New York City, vice-commander at large; Shadrach Jones, Kingston, chaplain; Ray Carpenter, New York City, historian; Michael L. Grasso, Philadelphia, judge advocate; and Harry G. Weber, Drexel Hill, quartermaster.

Local convention delegates were Mr. and Mrs. George Frantz, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Possinger, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Houser, Mr. and Mrs. Haas, Mr. Silfee, Angelo Dellaria, J. R. Heller and Harland Felker.

Making Final Flight

PHILADELPHIA, July 1 (AP)—Margaret Ann Shoudt, 26, a stewardess aboard the United Air Lines plane that crashed at Grand Canyon, Ariz., was making her last flight before going on reserve duty, her brother said today.

They also exchanged anniversary gifts. From the President to his wife: a gold heart-shaped medallion with the inscription: "Ike to Mamie, 1916-1956." Her gift to him was a gold-framed photograph of herself.

The anniversary, observed at the Eisenhower farm here, came as the President continued recovery from his June 9 intestinal operation.

History's Worst Airline Disaster Claims 128

Helicopters Locate Remains On Peaks

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., July 1 (AP)—Two huge airliners, turned into hurtling coffins for all 128 persons aboard, presumably by colliding in flight, were found burned and shattered today on adjacent peaks in Arizona's Grand Canyon.

No survivors could be found by a helicopter crew which battled turbulent air currents to land beside the wreckage on separate rock spires less than a mile apart in the desolate gorge.

The helicopter crew reported most of the bodies burned and mutilated beyond recognition.

As a single tragedy it was the worst commercial air disaster in history. Civil and military authorities gathered tonight to begin an investigation into the cause of the tragedy.

The helicopter first reached the wreckage of a Trans World Airlines Super Constellation which carried 70 persons. Later, it reached the United Air Lines DC7 less than a mile away. It carried 58 persons.

"It's a sight I don't want to have to see again," said Dr. Donald Hunter of Greenfield, Ind., spokesman for the helicopter crew.

The three-member crew, however, planned to go out again tomorrow.

Maj. Jerome A. Seldt, commander of the transport aviation helicopter unit from Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., said an effort would be made to bring the bodies of the victims—at least 11 of them children—out to civilization tomorrow.

He said a group including officials of both lines, Civil Aeronautics Board and others would fly to the scene by helicopter shortly after dawn "to collect what we can."

The remains will be taken to the coroner's office in Flagstaff for possible identification, he said.

The planes went down yesterday morning. Both were east-bound from Los Angeles, where they took off three minutes apart and flew into heavy thunderclouds over northern Arizona.

They carved two black burns against the buff-colored terrain of the remote and rocky canyon.

The TWA Aplane crashed and burned about 1,000 feet up a slope from the Colorado River's muddy waters. Its tail landed about 500 feet from the rest of the wreck.

The DC7 smashed into another peak about 1,500 feet higher nearer the confluence of the Colorado and Little Colorado Rivers.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority in Los Angeles said both planes filed instrument flight plans—calling for flight through the weather—out of Los Angeles.

At Daggett, Calif., in the Mojave Desert, the TWA pilot requested to change his altitude from 19,000 to 21,000 feet. Before the CAA could tell him United was flying at that altitude, the pilot said he would change his flight plan to visual—flying 1,000 feet on top of the cloud level.

The CAA okayed this and informed the TWA aircraft that United was flying at 21,000 feet. An official said he doesn't know if the United plane knew of this flight change. Actually, the spokesman continued, there was no reason for United to know since the TWA craft was supposed to be flying in the clear above the clouds.

Dr. Steiner Dies
CLAREMONT, Calif., July 1 (AP)—Dr. Edward A. Steiner, nationally known scholar, author and expert on immigration, died at his home here yesterday at the age of 90.

Eisenhowers Exchange Presents During 40th Wedding Anniversary Celebration At Farm

GETTYSBURG, July 1 (AP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower cut a wedding cake today, commemorating the 40th anniversary of their marriage.

They also exchanged anniversary gifts. From the President to his wife: a gold heart-shaped medallion with the inscription: "Ike to Mamie, 1916-1956." Her gift to him was a gold-framed photograph of herself.

The anniversary, observed at the Eisenhower farm here, came as the President continued recovery from his June 9 intestinal operation.

County Property Value Increases

MARKET VALUE of property in Monroe County zipped upward to the tune of $3,556,600 last year.

But the State Tax Equalization Board, in its annual report yesterday, said that real estate assessments failed to keep pace with the rise in actual value. The study dates from June 1955 to June 1956.

The STEB report says the percentage relationship between assessments and market values dropped two-tenths of one percent in 1955-56 compared to figures for the preceding year.

Assessed value total in Monroe county last year was $22,181,790 the report said. The total for the preceding year was $21,573,932.

Market value figures for the two years: $104,345,900 in 1955-56; $100,788,700 in 1954-55. This year the assessed value to market value ratio dropped down percentage. That was 21.34. The ratio had risen fractionally in 1954 and 1955.

Almost without exception Monroe county's districts dropped downward or stayed static in their percentages. The ratio or percentage is figured by dividing the STEB market value into the assessed value set by the district.

The two lone exceptions are Ross and Hamilton townships. Both of these show increases in their percentages.

Ross township's percentage in 1955 was 18. This year, in the current STEB report, it is listed as 19.1—a sizeable increase of 1.1 percent. Hamilton's ratio was raised one-tenth of one percent in the year's time—from 19.3 in 1955 to 19.4 this year.

A breakdown of totals—listing market value (as MV), assessed value (as AV) and the percentage of AV to MV, with a comparison of totals for the previous year—follows:

Barrett Township — $14,249,100

MV with $2,425,860 AV for a ratio of 17 percent. In 1955: $13,878,500 MV; $2,353,960 AV for a ratio of 17 percent. The MV increased $370,600 while the AV went up $71,900 and the ratio remained the same.

Chestnut Hill Township — $3,432,800 MV with $615,815 AV for a ratio of 17.9 percent. In 1955 the MV was $3,376,100 and the AV was $605,902; ratio was 17.9. MV increased $56,700 while the AV increased $9,913 and the percentage ratio remained the same.

Coolbaugh Township — $1,880,500 MV and $496,805 AV with the ratio set at 25.9 percent. Of the previous year: $1,695,600 MV with $462,680 AV and a ratio of 27.3. MV increased $184,900; AV increased only $23,925; the ratio dropped downward 1.4 percent.

Tallahassee Bus Line Halts Service

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 1 (AP)—It was call a cab or walk today for those among Tallahassee's 26,000 white residents who depend upon public transit facilities.

Cities Transit Co. suspended service on its bus routes last night as a result of a month-long boycott by Negro patrons. The Negroes normally supplied about 70 per cent of the bus company's revenue.

Cities Transit had serviced Florida's capital city since 1940.

Stetson Coleman, president of the company, announced 10 days ago bus service would end July 1 unless some solution was found to get the city's 14,000 Negroes back on the buses.

The last hope for a compromise ended Friday night when the Negro Inter-Civic Council refused to retreat on its demands for an end to segregated seating on the buses and immediate employment of Negro drivers.

The city had agreed to amend the bus franchise to permit open seating on the predominantly Negro lines except for one three-passenger lateral seat at the front which would have been reserved for white and to allow employment of Negro drivers at the discretion of the company.

The city apparently has no plan for any kind of emergency service. Commissioner W. T. Mayo, who has been the city's spokesman during the boycott, was not available for comment today.

Freak May Be Cause

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., July 1 (AP)—The head of an Air Force rescue team said today a freak combination of coincidence and weather may have caused two giant airliners to collide over the Grand Canyon.

Capt. Byrd Ryland of March Air Force Base, Calif., listed the combination as follows:

Visual Flight
The TWA Constellation was on a visual flight plan under which it was to fly 1,000 feet above the clouds at all times.

The United Air Lines DC7 flight plan called for instrument flight at a steady altitude of 21,000 feet. By a trick of fate, heavy thunderclouds were at 20,000 feet, putting both planes at an altitude of 21,000 feet.

Ryland also said both planes were to go over a spot in the Painted Desert, 20 miles east of the crash site, which is used as a regular checkpoint for airline flights.

A BUS FOR US — Once off the train the camp-bound children were loaded onto waiting buses for transportation to nearby camps. Whether the day it turned out to be or the spirits of young campers are always cheerful, the event was a laughter and shouts. These were typical of thousands of young boys and girls who make the journey during the summer season each year.

Wagner Gains Favor Of Adlai Camp

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York appears to be gaining favor among supporters of Adlai E. Stevenson for second place on the ticket if Stevenson wins the Democratic presidential nomination.

Although Stevenson apparently is refusing to make any advance commitments, Wagner is being talked about increasingly among the presidential aspirant's friends as the answer to the Democratic candidate's need to carry New York in November.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, who is challenging Stevenson for the top nomination, is repeating at every opportunity that Stevenson lost that state—with its 45 electoral votes—to President Eisenhower by more than 800,000 votes in 1952.

Harriman's plain inference is that Stevenson would do no better this year and that he, Harriman, is about the only Democrat who can carry the state against Eisenhower. Harry S. Truman won the presidency in 1948 without New York, but Harriman says it can't be done in 1956.

This contention evidently is giving Stevenson's strategists some concern. That is true because of its possible effect on the drive to get the top nomination for their candidate as well as on the November campaign for which the former Illinois governor is reported already making plans.

Some Stevenson backers feel Wagner, who has indicated he would accept second place on the national ticket, would help their chances of carrying the biggest state.

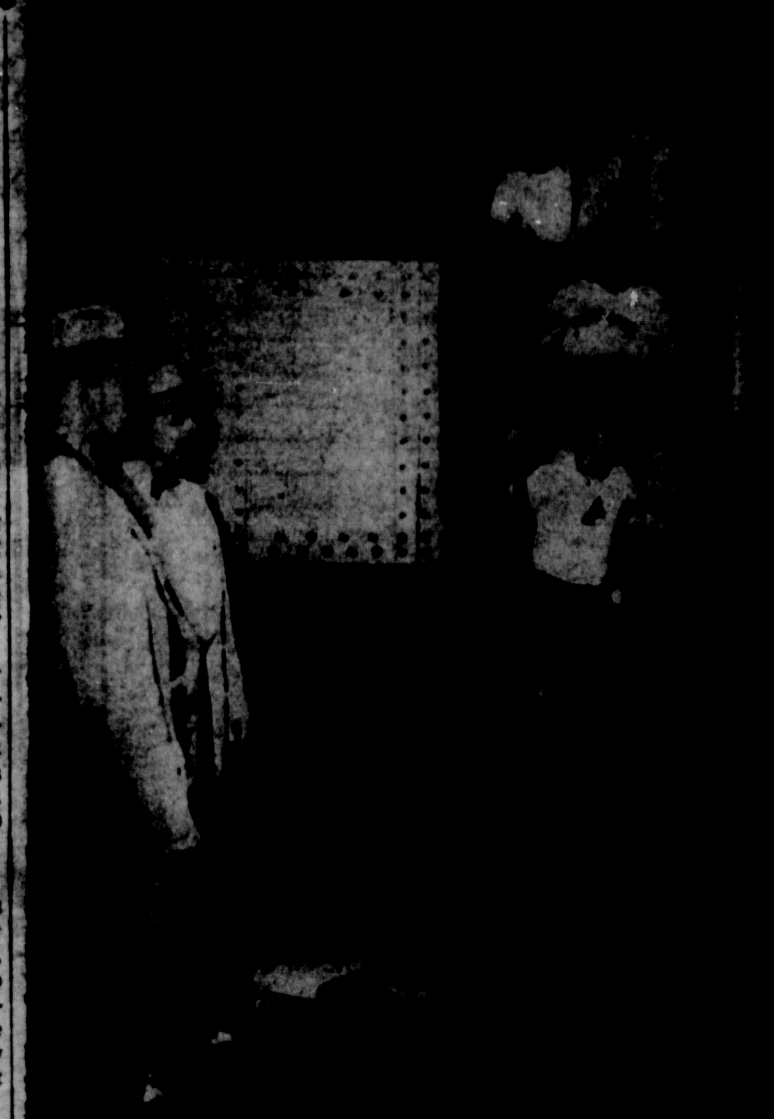

If he wins the nomination, Stevenson also will have to take into consideration the need to keep the South intact and the necessity of appealing to the farm vote in the traditionally Republican Midwest.

Wagner, a Catholic, was described by Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina at last week's governors' conference as acceptable to the South.

Bridge Bids To Be Opened

HARRISBURG — Bids will be opened July 27 for the construction of a bridge over Forest Hills Run Creek on a legislative route north of East Swiftwater, the State Highways Department announced here.

The new span will replace a bridge destroyed in last summer's flood.

NO DAMPER ON CAMPERS—It was a perfect day to start a Summer's vacation at one of the numerous Pocono Mountains camps for young people. Sun was shining, no clouds in sight, warm enough for tee shirts and shorts. And to make things even better, these young campers bounded off railway steps to find local citizens waiting to greet them.

Boy Plunges To Death From Cliff At Lake Wallenpaupack

TAFTON, — A nine-year-old Plymouth Meeting boy last night fell 35 feet to his death while hiking with three other youngsters over some cliffs above Lake Wallenpaupack.

State Police identified the victim as David Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams. Troopers said the boy died of a broken neck.

David was hiking over the mountainous terrain with his brother, Robert, 12, and two other boys, troopers said. They were accompanied by Mrs. Williams.

Ledge
State Police reported that David got too far out onto a ledge, slipped and fell 30 feet before striking a jutting rock. He then fell another five more feet into the lake.

Dr. Richard Porter, Hawley, who was called to the scene, said the boy's body was removed to the Cedar Funeral Home, Hawley.

The tragedy was investigated by Troopers John McCarthy and Glenn James of the Milford Substation.

Discrimination In Employment Now Illegal
HARRISBURG, July 1 (AP)—Discrimination in employment between the ages of 40 and 62 is now illegal in Pennsylvania under the newly effective age clause in the state's first fair employment practices law.

State Roads In Line For Rebuilding

HARRISBURG, July 1 (AP)—Pennsylvania's 40,000-mile state road network is in line for a tremendous $58 million dollar rebuilding boom during the next three years.

The new federal highway program will pour $41 million dollars into the state for improvement of every type road in the commonwealth—from secondary "farm to market" connecting links to the new four lane super-highway type.

Highways department officials consider the state is "in excellent shape" to participate fully in the federal program. The state will have to put up 217 million in matching funds.

Point
Joseph J. Lawler, highways secretary, today pointed out that the federal aid will, in addition, help out one of the most serious problems of the state network—steep grades on principal highways.

Several months ago Gov. Leader estimated it would cost 75 million dollars to eliminate these hazards which in the past year have resulted in the loss of a number of lives.

"Most of these hazards are located on routes which are eligible for federal aid," Lawler said. "We propose to attack this work on a stage construction program, that is scheduling two or three projects each construction season."

He added that with the expanded federal aid program "we believe much of this work can be under way and completed much sooner than we anticipated."

Network
Most of the federal aid coming to Pennsylvania, 252 millions in three years, will go for work on the "interstate" network. These are roads like cross-state U. S. 22, U. S. 30, U. S. 6, U. S. 11, and U. S. 15. This money is made available on a 80-10 federal-state basis with the state contributing 25 millions.

"The interstate system will carry out the limited access standard with adequate interchanges, access roads and by-passes," Lawler explained.

This phase of the new federal program is termed "most important" by the State Highways Department.

Lawler said that the department is ready to advertise for bids immediately on $4 million dollars worth of work, with the majority of 70 projects eligible for federal financing approval.

Mediation Chief To Contact Rivals

PITTSBURGH, July 1 (AP)—With the nation's basic steel industry shut down by a strike of 650,000 United Steel Workers members, the federal government made its first tentative move today toward reviving contract negotiations.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation Service, said in Washington he has been endeavoring to contact both union and management to "discuss the status of the situation and see if and how we can be helpful."

Union members walked away from the closed steel plants and set up picket lines last night at the expiration of contracts with 90 per cent of the nation's basic steel industry. Steelmaking facilities had been put on an indefinite standby basis. Only management personnel were in the mills to carry out the essential maintenance work.

Through the long weeks of contract debate between the union and companies the federal government has remained entirely out of the picture. In the past, federal agencies have moved into similar situations when a stalemate became apparent.

Disclosure
The disclosure came at almost the exact time David J. McDonald, USW president, returning to Pittsburgh from New York, was welcomed by a placard-waving crowd of strikers.

McDonald said for the first time that the "joint bargaining" in which the union has engaged with the three biggest companies, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic, was not suggested by the union.

He called these talks, which were hailed last May by some union sources as a move toward industrywide bargaining, "a backward step in the steel industry."

McDonald has said he wants industrywide bargaining rather than the traditional method of working out an agreement with one company, usually U. S. Steel, as a pattern for other contracts.

McDonald said he is willing and ready to meet with "responsible" representatives of the steel industry, but that he considers the chance of resuming negotiations this week "remote."

The walkout at Saturday midnight struck a crippling blow to America's economy. In one sweeping slash it cut off 60 per cent of vitally needed steel production—steel that in one way or another affects almost every phase of the nation's living standards.

Steel workers walked out of plants from one end of the country to the other a few hours after wage contract talks collapsed in New York. The length of a new contract between the companies and the union appeared to be the main stumbling block to agreement.

Million Tons
Steel producers—alerted when negotiations deadlocked early last week—had begun the slow process of banking basic ironmaking blast furnaces last Wednesday. The slowdown alone cost a million tons of steel that wasn't made. Mills and furnaces came to a stop at midnight. Only supervisors remained inside the plants.

Principals for both the union and three major companies trying to work out an agreement that would serve as a pattern for smaller steel firms said no new negotiating meetings are scheduled.

They said the strike could "be a long one." Each side said it would await a call from the other to resume negotiations.

Union negotiators called it quits in New York today after a month of negotiating there on what they and the companies called "neutered ground."

The USW Wage Policy Committee reaffirmed its rejection of what it called the industry's "take it or leave it... ultimatum," and the union adherence to a "no contract, no work" policy.

Twining On Return Trip

WIESBADEN, Germany, July 1 (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining flew from Moscow today on his way back to Washington to evaluate for President Eisenhower what he saw of Russian air power during eight days in the Soviet Union.

Twining, U. S. Air Force chief of staff, is expected to stay in Wiesbaden, U. S. Air Force headquarters in Europe, until tomorrow. He plans a stopover in Paris before leaving for Washington.

Easton Man Found Dead In Apartment

EASTON, July 1 (AP)—Seventy-one year old John Stencius of Easton was found dead in his apartment by police who were notified by neighbors they had been unable to arouse him.

Police battered down the door yesterday and found the elderly man and his small apartment in downtown Easton smeared with blood.

Accidental
Coroner George Kametz of Northampton County issued a certificate of accidental death due to skull fracture and loss of blood.

A police investigation showed that Stencius apparently fell and injured himself while drunk.

Three Small Boys Escape Injury

THREE SMALL BOYS narrowly escaped serious injury or death late last week while playing on Bell's Bridge in Minisink Hills just seconds before a westbound Lackawanna Railroad train roared across it.

Sgt. Harold D. Larson of the D.L.W. Police made this disclosure last night in an appeal to parents to keep their youngsters away from tracks and other railroad property.

Larson said the incident occurred at 8:30 p.m., Friday when train Number 11 rounded a bad curve at about 50 miles-an-hour and came upon the bridge where the youngsters were playing.

"Those youngsters came so close to being killed," said Larson. "It's a one-way track with no place to seek safety."

Luckily, the boys apparently escaped unharmed. At least a check with local police and hospital officials supported this conclusion.

But some other child may not be as lucky the next time, Larson warned.

NARROWSBURG, N. Y. — Stroudsburg area dog owners and handlers came away with honors in the annual Duso Kennel Club Dog Show here Saturday.

Mrs. Allen Hoffner, Saylorsburg, took second place in the cocker spaniel open male class with Hoffner's "Future Paymaster." The dog also won a reserve winner.

Mrs. Hoffner's "Princess Gypsy" was first in the novice class and her "Whirlwind" placed second in the open class female.

Mrs. Marguerite Manhart, Mountaintown, grabbed third place in the open class with "Sugar Brook Monita," and second in the puppy class with "Stage Doll."

Captures First

Gladys Mervine, Mount Pocono, captured a first in the puppy event with "Bossy-Hill Tom Boy" and second in the same event with "Mer-Glen Christopher." "Christopher" also was a reserve winner, while "Tom Boy" got into the winners class.

Mrs. Constance Hubbard, Effort, got a first place in the sheltland sheep puppy class with "Astolat's Golden Crown" and first in the female puppy with "Emblem Judy." "Emblem Judy" also was in the winners class, best of winners and best of opposite sex.

Mrs. Hubbard's champion Key-stone Timmy of Tarsus won laurels as best of breed and was third in the working group.

Chest X-Rays Scheduled For Food Handlers

Work To Begin On Thursday

CHEST X-RAY survey for food handlers, conducted once a year in Monroe County, will begin Thursday and continue through Friday, July 13.

The service is given to the approximately 1,600 food handlers who come into the county each summer to work in the hotel and resort kitchens and dining rooms.

In Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, the chest x-ray survey is included in the physical examination of each food handler and is compulsory under borough law.

The eight-day survey is made possible through the cooperation of the State Department of Health, Bureau of Tuberculosis Control, Monroe County Medical Society and Monroe County Cancer Society, and is organized by the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society.

Convenient

In addition to the dates set aside for food handlers, residents of the county will be given opportunity for a free chest survey. The x-ray unit will be stationed at the Municipal Building in East Stroudsburg on Saturday, July 7 from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. It will be in front of Wyckoff's Store, Stroudsburg, on Friday, July 13 from 9 a.m. to noon, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Locations for the food handlers will be as follows:

Thursday, July 6—Tanniment area, Camp Tanniment, 10 to 11:30 a.m.; Forest Park, Unity House, 2:30 to 4 p.m.

Friday, July 7—Brookheads area, Fire House, 10 a.m. to noon, Shawnee, Shawnee Inn, 2 to 4 p.m.

Saturday, July 8—Stroudsburg, Municipal Building, 8 to 11:30 a.m.; East Stroudsburg, Municipal Building, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Sunday, July 9—Skytop area, Skytop Lodge, 10 to 11:30 a.m.; Mount Pocono, Fire House, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.; Middle Smithfield, School House, 7 to 9 p.m.

Wednesday, July 11—Buck Hill Falls area, The Inn, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.; Mountaintown, YMCA, 2 to 4 p.m.; Tannersville, Fire House, 7 to 9 p.m.

Thursday, July 12—Pocono Manor area, The Inn, 10 to 11:30 a.m.; Pocono Crest, 1:30 to 3 p.m.; Mount Pocono, Mt. Airy Lodge, 4 to 5 p.m.

Art Show Opens Today

A SHOW featuring the work of prominent U. S. artists opens today at the Gallery Art Club studio in East Stroudsburg.

Arranged by Dr. Gene Oxhandler, the exhibit will also feature the work of Ethora Hauser, one of Monroe county's best-known professional artists.

National Scene

From the national art scene will come paintings and drawings by Sol Wilson, Samuel Adler, Burluk, Stephano Cusumano, Martin Friedman, Maurice Golubov, Robert Gwathmy, Gerritt Hondius, Egon Keskeline, Herman Oxhandler, Ethel Leventhal and one drawing by Walt Kuhn.

The show will run two weeks. Admission is free. Most of the paintings on exhibit are for sale through the gallery.

Final Rites Held For Staples

Train Crushes Automobile In East Borough

A 21-YEAR-OLD Bucks County man fell asleep at the wheel of his 1948 sedan yesterday morning and awakened to find the vehicle in the path of an oncoming D.L.W. Railroad train at the Millford Crossing in East Stroudsburg.

Borough Police said the motorist, Alfred A. Hoffman of Willow Ave., Pennell, jumped clear of the car in the nick of time. But his auto was completely demolished.

Hoffmann was traveling south on N. Courtland St. about 5:20 a.m., when he fell asleep, police said. He awakened when the car hit the railroad tracks and came to a stop on eastbound track Number 2.

The driver made an unsuccessful attempt to back his auto off the tracks, and then turned around to see Hoboken-bound Train Number 8 steaming toward his police reported.

Hoffmann abandoned the car, which was demolished by the train a few seconds later, police said further. The vehicle was carried about 100 feet down the track before the train came to a halt.

Damage to the auto was estimated at some $300. In addition, the front of the engine was damaged, a whistle post was knocked down and a crossing gate was knocked out of line.

The train, on which D. Chidester was engineer, left the East Stroudsburg station at 5:43 a.m. and about 23 minutes behind schedule.

The accident was investigated by Borough Patrolman Robert Schoonover and Sgt. Harold D. Larson of the railroad police.

Cub Scouts Feature Theme Of Circus

FINAL MEETING of Pack 80, Shawnee Cub Scouts, was held Thursday.

Theme for the meeting was "the circus." Cubs staged a parade, grand march and "animals."

Dog Fight

The meeting started off in grand style—with an unrehearsed (and completely unscheduled) dog fight. Other attractions were crown acts, acrobatic stunts, tightrope walkers and a dog (small beagle) jumping through a hoop.

Popcorn, lemonade and candy were on sale to the parents attending. Awards were later presented to the following: Douglas Witcraft, bobcat pin; Don Mazer, and Paul Overfield, bear badges. A pack picnic will be held in July. Date, time and place will be announced later.

Mrs. Imbt Rites Listed

FUNERAL SERVICES for Mrs. Hattie Ann Imbt, widow of James Imbt, will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at Lanterman funeral home.

The name of the deceased was erroneously listed in Saturday's edition of this newspaper.

East Stroudsburg Firemen Ready For Fireworks Display

A FOURTH OF JULY fireworks display that promises to be the most spectacular ever witnessed in this section will be presented Wednesday night in Memorial Stadium, East Stroudsburg.

At least 45 large ground pieces and a large number of aerial bombs, including some that are actually five shells in one, will be set off during the show. A number of pieces were made especially for Wednesday night's display, which will begin promptly at 9:30 p.m.

Tom Sexton, chairman of the committee, said the firemen are putting on the display this year in place of their annual carnival as a means of raising funds. Their exhibition building on Day St. and all their carnival equipment were destroyed in the flood last year.

Goal

The fire company hopes to raise $5,000 through the distribution of tickets. Each person who makes a $1 donation will receive one ticket. Children under 12 years of age who are accompanied by an adult will be admitted to the stadium.

Tickets may be obtained at Lloyd's Sporting Goods Store in East Stroudsburg and at Rea and Derick's and the D-J Record Shop in Stroudsburg. They may also be purchased at the gate on the night of the display, or they may be procured from any member of the fire company.

Requiem Mass Celebrated

ROSETO—Requiem mass was celebrated Saturday morning in Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church for Joseph Cortazzo, who died in Temple Hospital, Philadelphia. He was admitted there two weeks previously for treatment of injuries suffered in a fall in the bathtub of his home.

Mr. Cortazzo, 39, co-founder of the Blue Valley Food Market, was a veteran of World War Two and the Korean conflict. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Jennie Venerri Cortazzo; one daughter, Jennie, and two brothers, Anthony, Bangor and Jaconda, Moscow.

Two Women Suffer Minor Injuries

FERN RIDGE — Minor injuries were suffered by two Philadelphia women who were involved in a two-car collision on Route 115 in Tobyhanna Township at 4 a.m. yesterday.

Fern Ridge State Police said Leona Alper, 32, suffered severe contusions of the right hip and a laceration of the hand, while Mary Hacker received a bruised knee. Both were treated by Dr. James Kitchen, Pocono Lake.

The women were injured riding in a car operated by Joseph Alper, Jr., 31, also of Philadelphia, which crashed into another vehicle driven by Florence Wilcain, 34, of Wilkes-Barre, as it was backing up on the highway, troopers said. Total damage was estimated at $1,000.

Local Highways On U. S. Program Shortway Should Also Be Included

The Pocono Mountains region has much at stake in the 33-billion-dollar federal highway construction program approved by Congress and President Eisenhower late last week.

Described as "the greatest governmental construction program in the history of the world," the measure gives Pennsylvania the third largest allocation among the various states. Only Texas and California will receive more.

Current allocations indicate that a $158,000,000 construction program will be possible in Pennsylvania in the next three years with the federal government providing $341,000,000 and the state's share coming to $117,000,000.

The federal-state program provides for a transcontinental network of superhighways that will connect 42 state capitals. Construction, interstate, state and rural, runs to 750,000 miles.

Pennsylvania Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler says the department will have plans completed within 90 days for $300,000,000 in highway construction, much of which he believes will qualify for the new program.

The department, adds Lawler, is ready to advertise for bids on projects totaling nearly $65,000,000, the majority of which can be approved for federal financing.

"We also have ready for final checking plans for projects totaling $98,236,000 with completion scheduled within a few months on additional projects estimated to cost $129,237,800. Agreements are under negotiation with engineering consultants for another group of projects totaling $27,327,000."

Highway officials have disclosed that the two main highways leading into the Poconos—U. S. Routes 209 and 611—are scheduled for inclusion in the federal-state program.

It is presumed that the proposed Thruway, a limited access highway which would skirt the Stroudsburgs, would be among the improvements since it would connect with both 209 and 611.

The most ambitious project in present plans calls for a new U. S. Route 6 across the top of the state with a number of spurs, one of which would lead to Stroudsburg. A new highway from Harrisburg to Wilkes-Barre, now linked by Route 11, is also planned, as is further improvement of Route 22 from Easton to Harrisburg.

The all-important project, in the minds of residents across the breadth of North-Central Pennsylvania, is one that has not yet been certified to the Federal Bureau of Public Roads by the State Highway Department.

It is the Keystone Shortway, which would extend from Stroudsburg in the east to Sharon in the west. As a freeway it would qualify under the federal highway program because it would link the Ohio Turnpike with the superhighway New Jersey is planning to build between New York City and Delaware Water Gap.

Furthermore, it would qualify as a military highway for it would bring such important installations as the Tobyhanna Signal Depot and the new Curtiss-Wright plant in the Clearfield-Phillipsburg area closer to New York City and other critical points in the defense setup. And since there would be no tunnels on its route the Shortway would have a major advantage over the present Pennsylvania Turnpike in the event of enemy attack.

Sentiment for inclusion of the Shortway is growing all along the proposed route between Stroudsburg and Sharon. Chief reason is its wide acceptance among manufacturers who envision the Shortway opening up new territory for the development of industries in the northern half of Pennsylvania.

The Keystone Shortway for many reasons would prove to be the crucial link on the shortest highway network between New York and Chicago. By all means, it should rate among the top projects on the federal-state program.

Poles Risk Death To Reveal Plight

The courage of the Poles in Poznan who rose in revolt on Thursday against their Communist masters entitles them to the homage of all free people, and to whatever more practical support it may be possible to give them.

They must have known that their chances for overturning the tyranny were small. This did not deter them from risking death to make their plight known to the world.

In this they succeeded. Choosing their time cleverly, on a day when thousands of outside visitors would be in Poznan for an international fair, they have made the whole world see that the Communist system in Poland has produced only hunger and poverty; that it takes a worker a day's toil to buy a pound of rice, and a month's work to buy a pair of shoes.

Forty-eight Poles died, by the government's own admission, to send this message to the outside world. This should provide food for thought for such nations as India and Egypt, which are now being told that Communism is producing such abundance that it can now be shared with less privileged nations.

This is incidental, however, beside the disclosure that 11 years of ruthless Communist tyranny has not been able to extinguish the ardent patriotism with which Poland has defied all oppressors through many centuries.

To suppress the unarmed patriots of Poznan, the Communist rulers had to call upon the army, in which every officer above the rank of major is a Russian. The martyrs of Poznan have thus compelled the world to see that their nation is the prisoner of its ancient enemy, Russia.

It is not easy to see how the outside world can help the Polish people in their plight. But this revolt, coming on the heels of students' riots in Czechoslovakia, and serious troubles in Russia's own Georgian republic, provides new evidence that Communism is in trouble throughout its whole empire. There may be more fire in the ashes than the new and "softer" regime can cope with. (Philadelphia Bulletin.)

You Can Evade Paying Federal Income Tax By Turning Self Into Foreign Corporation

How Not To Pay Taxes

The smart folks in all countries and at all times always discover how to avoid paying taxes.

And they can find lawyers and accountants who specialize in such matters, who can give them sound advice. I have already reported on some methods of doing this, but have not come across any method that helps the ordinary American who lives and works in his own country and spends his money here, wisely or unwisely. Such a guy always has to pay his taxes and if he is careless by even a thought, he is liable to be reviewed and required to pay some more.

However, Paul D. Seghers, Dr. Charles L. Savage and William J. Reinhart have prepared a pamphlet, which deals with "How to Do Business Abroad at the Least Tax Cost." It is a very useful pamphlet if you can do business abroad but if you stay home, it is of no value whatsoever. But how can most of us do business abroad if we earn our livings here in various occupations?

One of the methods to save money is to organize a Western Hemisphere Trade Corporation which an American may use if all its business is done in the Western Hemisphere and 95 percent or more of its business is done outside of the United States. A lot of mathematics is involved in computing the tax savings of operating through a Western Hemisphere Trade Corporation, but the pamphlet says that it amounts to "a relatively large tax saving."

The idea, of course, is to get American corporations to invest their money in Canadian, South and Central American countries. But the effect is that the expense of government being high, the amount demanded by our government to meet these expenses must come out of the earnings of those who do not know how to organize their lives to save on taxes. For instance, if a woman teaches school in New York or Kalamazoo, it does her no good to organize as a Western Hemisphere Trade Corporation.

To avoid getting too mixed up, I shall quote at length the pamphlet's example on how to save money through the Western Hemisphere Trade Corporation:

"Example: Assume that a Western Hemisphere Trade subsidiary has $100,000 taxable income (before the special deduction allowed it) for the calendar year 1954. Its tax would be $32,500, computed as follows:

Taxable income	$100,000
Special deduction (14/52 of $100,000)	26,923
Income subject to tax	$ 73,077
Normal and surtax	$ 32,500

"Assume further that the balance ($67,500) of income remaining after paying this tax ($100,000 minus $32,500) is paid as a dividend to the parent.

"Only 15 percent of this dividend, or $10,125, would be taxed to the parent. Assuming the parent had at least $25,000 income from other sources, the tax resulting from its receipt of this dividend would be $3,265 (52 percent of $10,125). The aggregate tax paid by the parent and by the Western Hemisphere Trade subsidiary on the income earned by the latter would be $37,765 ($32,500 plus $5,265). If the parent had engaged directly in foreign trade, the tax on the $100,000 of income from that source would have been $32,000 (continuing the assumption that the parent had at least $25,000 income from other sources). Hence, in this case the tax saving realized as a result of operating through a Western Hemisphere Trade subsidiary would be $14,235 ($32,000 minus $37,765). The saving in such a case would be greater when the corporate tax rates are reduced." Unfortunately, this example does not help most of us because we stay, work, buy, use, eat at home, giving our Americans work and profits. But maybe you don't want to pay much taxes. Then you can turn yourself into a corporation and go to Puerto Rico where, if you are smart enough, it is possible to pay no taxes at all. Every day, something new turns up which we simple folks who are not Western Hemisphere Trade Corporations or who do not operate out of Liberia or Liechtenstein do not know about. But as one digs, he finds and what he finds is that there are ways not to pay taxes. The law does it always with some good motive, but clever men learn how to make the law mean more than was intended. I saw a sign the other day which read, "If you are so smart, why ain't you rich?" You say!

Should Patient Be Told When Illness Is Mortal?

"Would you want to know?" If there were no question but that you suffered a fatal disease, your doctor knew it, your family knew it—would you want to know?

This is one of the most delicate problems physicians must face—how much to tell the patient. Articles have been written by the team stoutly in defense of both sides. Many doctors feel that the doomed give up hope, upon learning the seriousness of their condition. That nothing is to be gained by adding depressing finality to the already heavy burden of illness. That, in truth, it is unfair to place such a dictum before any human being, when miracles of faith and miracles of science might cause a happier ending.

How often have we comforted the grief-stricken families of cancer victims who tearfully proclaimed—"But at least, he didn't know . . . he felt confident of recovery right to the end . . ."

Is that really a comfort? Is it really quite fair? Is such a vital deception without its deeper implication of betrayal? We are all different in our responses. Such questions are so personal they can only be answered in one's own heart, for one's own self.

For myself alone I would answer this way. I would want to know, if the end of my time on earth were approaching steadily and as surely as medical science can determine. I have observed a few mortally ill persons, some who knew, and some in total ignorance of their conditions. Those who had met the issue squarely and confidently seemed to me much happier and serene than those whose every glance contained the mute question, "When will I be well?"

It seems to me to involve the attitude we have about death itself. It seems to concern what we mean when we say "hope" and "faith" and even "life." We know we are part of the universal experience of birth; why dodge the inevitable fact that we one day pass on into the next part of such experience?

Yes, I would want to know. I would like that time to count my blessings and repent my sins—and both jobs would require a good bit of time. I would like the chance of turning my face toward the light of a new direction, rather than facing toward what is not to be. To be a little irreverent about it, I would be quite cross waking up in the next world to learn that everyone but me knew the trip was in the offing!

Of course, I shall live forever, but not in the same old spot.

Second H-Bomb Hit Closer To Target Than First Did

Washington, July 1—The Air Force is doing a lot better in hitting a target with an H-bomb.

The aiming on a second test showed marked improvement over the first.

The latest H-bomb dropped from a giant B-52 in the South Pacific hit "within a few hundred yards" of the target.

This second bomb was larger than the first that exploded some seven miles wide of its target. That H-bomb had a destructive force equivalent to around 8,000,000 tons of TNT. The "yield" of the latest bomb was in the neighborhood of 11 megatons.

So far, four hydrogen bombs and two atomic bombs have been "fired" in these tests.

Of the four hydrogen "shots," two were air-drops, both from B-52 strategic bombers. There will be at least two more such hydrogen tests before the series concludes late this month or early in August.

More than 13,500 military and civilian personnel are participating in these experiments. But there is not a single woman among them.

Since the tests began several months ago, Russia has exploded three hydrogen weapons. Two were definitely H-bombs; the third may not have been. So far, the Atomic Energy Commission has announced only one of these Soviet "shots."

During Defense Secretary Wilson's recent visit to the Pacific tests, he complained to Admiral Byron Hanton about inter-service feuding in the Pentagon.

"You think you have a problem," exclaimed the test director. "Look what I have to keep happy. I not only have the three armed services out here, but also two research agencies, several big contractors, and the Atomic Energy Commission."

Note: Main reason for that surprise vote by the House Appropriations Committee to investigate the utilities' advertising campaign about their atomic power developments was a letter received by Chairman Clarence Cannon (D., Mo.) from Senator Clinton Anderson (D., N. M.), head of the Joint Atomic Committee. Anderson flatly charged the utilities with making unfounded claims. He cited the following instances to Cannon:

"Among the reactors the private power group advertised it had in operation were the original 'watt' Chicago pile which launched the atomic age on November 2, 1942, and the Los Alamos 'Fast Clementine,' so named because of the association of '49,' the code name for the fuel (plutonium), with the location (a canyon near Los Alamos). Clementine was dismantled in 1952. The original Chicago pile was dismantled in 1943 and its parts used in a later model. Neither had anything to do with power production or the private power industry." On the Frowl—An intriguing aspect of the Kremlin's "new look" foreign policy is taking place right here in the U. S.

AMTORG Trading Company, Russia's business agent in this country, is sending out hundreds of letters indicating a willingness to make large-scale purchases of all kinds of U. S. goods.

One of these AMTORG letters, turned over to the House Foreign Affairs Committee by a manufacturer, states:

"Some of our clients in the Soviet Union have written us they may be in the market for products made by your company. In this connection it would be very helpful to us, and might be very worthwhile for you, to send us two copies of your catalog. (Signed) S. Dmitriev, vice president."

Note: General Nathan Twining will make a TV-radio report to the nation when he returns from Russia. The White House has arranged that with the networks. Before the Air Chief of Staff and his party flew to Moscow, they had a five-hour briefing on how to conduct themselves during the trip. One State Department official told them, "You should act as if you are constantly before a TV camera and the whole world is watching you."

Good Tidings—Eger Murphree, the Pentagon's recently-appointed guided missiles czar, has made his first report.

The former Standard Oil executive has privately told Defense Secretary Wilson that everything is coming along well in this hotly-controversial field and there is no occasion for serious complaint.

The missiles program, Murphree has assured Wilson, "is very well thought out and only minor changes are necessary."

This unpublished report is based on Murphree's personal studies since becoming missiles czar several months ago. Whether his laudatory findings will be made public is still undecided. They are already drawing backstage fire in Congress.

Inside word of Murphree's report has reached the special Senate Armed Services Subcommittee that is investigating the guided missiles and nuclear programs. Senator Stuart Symington (D., Mo.), chairman, and other committee members are sharply critical of both programs and have considerable closed-door testimony regarding them. Murphree is certain to be grilled on his views.

These include the following in his report to Secretary Wilson: "Guided missiles development is one of the finest examples of teamwork I have ever seen."

"All the missile programs are on schedule."

"The Army's Nike missile is very effective, and so far the best that has been produced."

Two states in India employ professional star gazers. Imagine getting paid by the government for having your head in the clouds!

Reward Posted For Peacocks

By Jim Riley

Our peacocks are back in the act. The two birds were seen by Harold Crossdale in Delaware Water Gap on Friday.

They are owned, in case you've just tuned in on this serial, by Eilert Sibum, East Stroudsburg RD 2, or near the railroad overpass on Route 90.

The peacocks took off for Bartonsville and remained in that area for about a week. Now they've been spotted in Delaware Water Gap.

Latest news is the fact that a reward will be given by the Sibums for return of the two birds.

! ! ! Fred Dennis, a resident of 508 Lindbergh Ave., Stroudsburg, is on the mend after recent long illness.

The likeable Dennis would like to have his many friends stop in and shoot the breeze. His feeling like rehanging old ties and the weather is perfectly suited for such a pastime.

It has only been recently that Fred has been able to have visitors, but he's feeling much better at the present time and is now anxious to have his friends stop around at the house.

I know everyone in Stroudsburg is happy to hear that Fred is feeling much better at this date.

! ! ! Dr. Ed Magann, well known Barrett and Stroudsburg dentist, became the proud father of a son last week.

Mother and son are both doing well at the Monroe County General Hospital.

Dr. Magann is a graduate of Barrett High School.

! ! ! Dick Walters, Bartonsville, attended a New York Life Insurance Co. convention at Dixville Notch, N. H., last week.

! ! ! Bob Widmer, a member of The Daily Record advertising department, returns to the old grid today after a week's vacation.

The vacation was slightly dulled as wife Millie came down with a case of hay fever and Bob and oldest son Jeff each picked up colds.

! ! ! Father Joseph Saltry, who was once assigned to St. Matthew's Church, East Stroudsburg, is now moderator of athletics at the Catholic Youth Center in Carbonado.

! ! ! John Shupp, who lives at 340 Braeside Ave., East Stroudsburg, is 60 years and one week old today.

Shupp is in his 42nd year as a linotype operator at The Daily Record.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

I once supported Mr. Marx; Could be my head was in a spin, But that belongs with yesterday.

IM NOW SUPPORTING MARYLIN!

The daily mood was once my guide; For varied "isms" I might go, But now one verdict firm

Is mine . . . THE WORLD'S BEST HOPE IS MISS MONROE!

I made mistakes as most men do; False judgments I did not escape, But with Monroe upon my arm THE WORLD NOW SEEMS IN PROPER SHAPE!

Playwright Arthur Miller and Marilyn are two hearts that beat as one, and its almost time for orange blossoms and confetti rather than criticism. . . . Nevertheless his excuse for certain warmth toward Connie causes in the forties that "it suited my mood at the time" makes our noodle ring with the Whittier poem "Maud Muller," only we keep saying "Mood Muller." . . . "I was not a Saul or Tarsus walking down the road and struck by a bright light," he told the Senate committee. . . . Well put, but the years involved were years when a lot of guys had to walk a road with just one man, Yankee Doodle, regardless of lighting effects. . . . Marilyn and Arthur are big names and their union takes on the calibre of a top merger, a runner up to the Grace Kelly-Prince Rainier romance, with the dramatic rights worth more. . . . We trust the clergyman doesn't ask, "Do you take this man for better or moods. . . . Marilyn picks no unknowns. . . . Joe DiMaggio was world famous, too, and it is interesting to wonder what she finds Joe and Miller have in common. . . . Miller, of course, gets his share of hits, covers a lot of ground easily and has championship qualities. . . . And he insisted in the Washington hearing that he was a Yank. . . . It must give Marilyn a sense of triumph on and off the diamond, but it moves her from a world of hothouses, peanuts and cries of "Slide, ya bum!" to a sphere of canapés, literary cocktail parties and shouts of "Yes, but how is your second act coming on?"

Marilyn may have to do a solo honeymoon in Europe, as Miller faces passport trouble. . . . How about a native honeymoon in Moody, Texas, or Moodus, Connecticut? . . . Possible new plays: "All My Moods," "Death of a Passport" and "A View From the House Committee." . . . A Frenchman has invented an automatic dinner table which sets, clears and washes the dishes. . . . A diner presses a button for each course, and it comes up on an endless belt. . . . Now for pushbutton dinner chat, and power controlled cocktails! . . . Weatherman in convention are considering a suggestion that forecasts be made more popular by quoting odds. . . . We are all for it. . . . Partly Cloudy, coupled with Overcast: 3 to 1. . . . Bright Sunshine: even money. . . .

Low Pressure Oil Burner Economical

"MATCH this oil burner, if you can."

This is the challenge Arthur Henning, owner-manager of the H. C. Archibald Co., 406 Main St., makes on behalf of the new Winkler 'LP' oil burner.

The Archibald company was recently appointed as local dealer for Winkler heating and air conditioning. Winkler heating and air conditioning equipment is manufactured by the Stewart-Warner Corp.

To prove his claims that the Winkler low-pressure burner will outperform conventional oil burners, Mr. Henning has set up a burner in the company showroom. You can test its operating efficiency personally.

To show how dependable and economical the Winkler burner operates, Mr. Henning runs the burner on unrefined black crude oil, dirty automotive crank case drippings, and even pours water in the oil.

Efficiency Unchanged

In all cases no adjustments are made to the burner and you'll see for yourself that its operating efficiency is altered in no way.

Here are the reasons for the Winkler low-pressure burner's efficiency and economy of operation:

The Winkler eliminates excessive service cost caused by nozzle clogging and filter and strainer stoppage. The Winkler does not clog! It uses no filters and the coarse strainer does not stop up.

In a conventional high-pressure burner the nozzle opening is extremely small. The Winkler nozzle is approximately 30 times larger.

The Winkler burner also releases only the amount of heat the heating plant can absorb and transfer efficiently. Waste heat (along with your heating costs) don't go up the chimney.

Mr. Henning also claims the Winkler burner will pay for itself in oil savings. He invites you to visit the Archibald showroom and see it in actual operation.

Clean Exhaust Fans

KITCHEN exhaust fans should be given a good cleaning from time to time. There is a good deal of grease in the air in a kitchen and when enough collects on the fan it can decrease the efficiency of the fan.

Carpets Kill Echoes

CARPETS are important in sound-proofing a house as well as for improving appearances. Carpets not only deaden the footfall but also kill echoes in rooms.

Troubled By Damp Basement? Try Thoro System Products

BASEMENT DAMP? Leaking water in on your valuable tools and other property? The boys at Modern Home Improvement Co. have the answers to that problem in the form of Thoro System Products. Guaranteed results on your job at the claim made.

If it's a damp condition of steady stream of water, there's a Thoro Product designed specifically for that application. Modern Home Improvement is equipped and have skilled men to do your job.

Many people are choosing this time of year to have the exterior of their concrete and cinder block homes finished in gay color. This Thoro Exterior Color finish not only brightens up the home but also forms a barrier against dampness.

For free estimates or more information just call 1247 . . . or stop at Modern Home Improvement at 336 Main St., Stroudsburg.

Fit Wood Handles

FILES and rasps should always be fitted with a wood handle. If used without a handle there is a chance of getting a bad injury to the hand from the sharp tang of the tool.

Slow Thawing Time

SOMEONE has figured out that it takes about 48 hours for the food inside a fully loaded home food freezer to thaw after the power is off. Naturally, if the freezer door is opened a lot it's going to speed up the thawing time.

New Ant Killer Is Developed

BOTHERED by ants? Well, the bothersome critters are in for real trouble, thanks to a new gadget from the makers of Scott's lawn products.

It's called Scott'sWand and it's the new, modern, light ant weapon that speaks with authority.

Loaded with a can of Scott's Cope, it's sure-fire.

A gentle bounce deposits the granules on unsightly ant hills. It's easy to reach under shrubs or to the back of a garden strip.

One of its best uses is in putting a narrow protective band of the granules around the house at the foundation; discourages ants, earwigs and other obnoxious insects from moving into the house.

You can get the Scott'sWand (plus Cope refills) at the Fred Fetherman Paint Store, 1016 W. Main St. (next to the Pocono bridge).

Fetherman's is an authorized dealer for all Scott's lawn products.

Manheim Adopts Boy From Korea

By Paul Carlson

"I'm a father!" It was in these words that 26-year-old Dick Manheim of East Stroudsburg let out the news that the Monroe County Court had granted his petition to adopt a 16-year-old Korean orphan.

Jon Richard Manheim, formerly Jang Sung Ho, came to the United States last August through Dick's efforts. Since then, he's completed his freshman year at Central Catholic High School in Allentown, while his "Dad" finished working for his bachelor's degree at Muhlenberg College.

"We really haven't done much except study," said Dick. "In addition to school, Jon has been teaching me Korean, and I've been helping him with English."

"He's improving very rapidly," he reported, "since he has a natural proclivity for studying."

Nature

"I think it's his Oriental nature," Dick added.

The story began during the Christmas season of 1952, while Dick was a member of the 326th Communications - Reconnaissance Company in Korea, and one of the G-1 occupants of Tent 51.

At the time, Dick and his buddies were looking for a new "house boy" to replace one who had been dismissed.

"That's when a thin, frightened youngster appeared at Tent 51 to apply for the job. It was Jon and he could say nothing in English except "Yes" and "No."

Uniform

"Jon was wearing a school uniform, a cap and sneakers, all of which plainly showed the hardships he had undergone during the war," Dick recalled recently. "Yet there was something that set him off from others his age."

"He was a good boy," Dick continued. "He didn't steal like many of the others, and we got to know him better, we found he had high Christian ideals."

Soon the GIs of Tent 51 had grown to like the new houseboy. And Jon had grown to like them. In time, he began to confide in the American soldiers.

Dick and the others heard a tale of horror from the lips of Jon, who was able to only partially describe his ordeal because of his limited English.

They learned the communists moved into Jon's section around Kumwha in 1946. Share cropping, the occupation in which his moderately wealthy father engaged, soon was abolished as a capitalist enterprise.

Jon and his family were ordered to a small town about 70 miles away and their holdings were confiscated. The ordeal proved too much for Jon's father, who died a short time later.

Mother

After his death, Jon and his mother remained in Kumwha until it was almost completely destroyed during a raid. Then they fled to the surrounding hills where they lived in caves for 11 months.

Life in the hills was strenuous. Food largely consisted of rice and occasional bits of grass or roots. Disease was widespread and the death rate mounted with each new day.

One day Jon himself became sick and his mother decided to try to find medical help in Kumwha. But another attack was made on the area. Mrs. Jang was killed. Jon was never able to find her body.

However, in time, the sector was occupied by UN forces and Jon was given shelter by Father Kim, Catholic chaplain to the Second Korean Division.

Life for Jon became more pleasant with Father Kim around. But finally regulations made it necessary for the priest to leave Jon behind as he went forward with his division.

The youngster then ended up in Seoul, which had become peaceful by that time. Relatives of the interpreter of the 326th Company befriended Jon until he won the job of houseboy for Tent 51.

It soon became apparent that Jon was a natural-born student. So Manheim and his buddies made it possible for the youth to attend a small night school in Seoul. And when the 326th was reorganized, they made it possible for Jon to live with a Korean family and attend day school.

Study English

"Jon added two hours of night school to study English," Dick added.

At length, however, Manheim was scheduled to be shipped home. But he didn't leave without first making a definite promise to Jon that he'd send for him as quickly as possible.

For two years, Jon waited patiently while Dick went through the regular red tape. At times, the lad became despondent over the prospects of getting a new start in the United States.

Finally, Jon boarded a plane in Seoul. Two days later—on Aug. 30, 1955—Dick greeted the lad at Idlewild Airport on Long Island. No sooner did Jon arrive here than he was introduced to academic life. Dick entered his fourth year at Muhlenberg, and Jon became freshman at Allentown's Central Catholic High School.

"He's very good scholastically," said Dick. "He got a 91 average the first semester, and got a 97 average the second. It's been 90s all the way through."

"I sometimes worry," Manheim added, "that he may be spending

LANGUAGE STUDY: Dick Manheim (right), 26-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph E. Manheim of 59 S. Green St., East Stroudsburg, gets another lesson in writing the Korean language from Jon Richard Manheim, formerly Jang Sung Ho, a 16-year-old Korean orphan. too much time with his studies."

However, he seems to have the same diversions of any other American boy. He likes comics, motion pictures and television.

He's also become a fan of Central Catholic's basketball squad, although he is a bit too small himself to participate in sports.

Both "father" and "son" will be working here this Summer. And then Dick will go into teaching this Fall.

"Although I'm considering several offers, we'll probably go to New Jersey," Dick remarked. "And Jon will continue his high school studies there."

"Then what?" "Jon wants to go on for higher education," said Dick. "He isn't sure what he wants to do for his life work yet, but I'm sure he'll make a good decision at the right time."

having wonderful time... SHOPPING!

When summer comes, spring is far behind—in sales. People shop a billion dollars more in summer than in spring!

"Summer slump" has been replaced by "summer jump" according to the U. S. Department of Commerce. It reports that retail sales were $45.8 billion last spring, then soared to $46.8 billion in the summer!

People are just as active reading their newspapers in the summer, too. Daily newspaper circulation remains almost constant all year 'round.

Put these facts together and they spell SALES. Make sure you get your share of summer sales—use the newspaper to reach people in the summer. Remember—there's no summer slump in sales or newspaper readership. And there's no summer replacement for the newspaper! All business is local...and so are all newspapers.

On their return from a wedding trip, they will reside temporarily with the bridegroom's parents.

Pollyannas Schedule July Bake Sale

Saylorsburg — The Pollyannas of Mt. Eaton Church will attempt to recoup their losses in the ill-fated annual festival by holding a bake sale on July 13 at Frank Grocery Store in Saylorsburg. Miss Nellie Kostenbader and Mrs. Arthur Schaffer will be in charge of sales and Mrs. Doris Fenner and Mrs. Russell Kresge will be in charge of pick-up.

Their annual festival night was a very rainy one, and they stored their unsold goods for a later date, only to have them stolen during the night.

The meeting of the group was held at the home of Mrs. Doris Fenner, Wind Gap, with Mrs. Andrew Schaffer in charge of devotions and Mrs. Charles Kresge, president, in charge of the business meeting.

Samples of Christmas cards were on display so that orders could be given.

Mrs. Fenner, assisted by Mrs. Mary Buskirk and Mrs. Erma DeLong, served refreshments to the following: Mrs. Isaac Smith, Mrs. Sadie Rascley, Mrs. Graydon Praetorius, Mrs. Russell Kresge, Mrs. Norman Greenmoyer, Mrs. Elsie Buskirk, Miss Nellie Kostenbader, Mrs. Andrew Schaffer, Mrs. Charles Kresge, Mrs. May Hahn, Mrs. Ralph Bond, Miss Shirley Fenner.

Contests were enjoyed, and prizes given winners. In July the Pollyannas and their families or guests will enjoy a doggie roast in the picnic woods.

Just Between Us —By Bobby Westbrook

It was a very happy and successful trip, taking the string bass out to Pete in the Allegheny forest. But the trouble with happy, successful trips is that they don't make good copy. Now if we'd got stuck in a flash flood on a dark night on a lonely mountain and had to carry the string bass into a haunted house — that would have been a story.

Instead the weather was perfect. Pete's blessed landlady the kind who not only can fit a seventeen-year-old boy into her household, but his string bass and his family as well, without batting an eye. Well, I wouldn't trade the joy of the trip—not even for a good column.

Besides, you can always make your own. Just take Mrs. Lulu Harvey for instance. She's due to be a very busy woman this year, and I was glad to see they'd given her a good, comfortable chair after the Soroptimist installation.

She's going to be president of both the Soroptimists and the Business and Professional Women's Clubs the same year and either one is a man-sized job. Which of course is why they have a woman to do it.

Sometimes I think the political parties are overlooking a lot of executive ability confining their candidates to men. Political campaigns would be a lot tidier, I suspect. At least on the surface, I'll have to admit that there are times when the women's clubs have to sweep a little dirt under the carpet—but not nearly as many times as the men like to think.

However, if there's anything that might make the battle of the sexes seem pretty insignificant, it's a trip through northern Pennsylvania. Somehow people who live most of their lives in towns and cities begin to get the idea that they're pretty well in control of nature.

People trim lawns and hedges, train roses, concrete patios, they even drain swamps and build cities on them, and make streams disappear down drainholes.

But once away from the little patches of cities, and people sort of shrink. They seem more like little mice nibbling around the edges of mountains flowing back like quicksilver if they so much as turn their backs.

Didn't notice anything mouse-like about my favorite forest, though, who seemed quite in control of the situation so I guess I don't have to start thinking of another excuse for going out. Not right away.

Wedding At Church In Roseto

Roseto — Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church, Roseto, was the scene of the wedding of Anthony Caizzo, to Miss Arlene Mae Frable, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Frable of Nazareth RD 3 on June 23 at 10 a. m.

The bridegroom's parents were former residents of Roseto. He is the son of Mrs. Rose Calatunglio, now of 1699 Oakland Park, Columbus, Ohio, and the late Salvatore Caizzo.

Rev. Charles Sweeney C. M., performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace over satin with long sleeves, a mandarin collar trimmed in pearls and sequins, and a full skirt with side panels of pleated tiered ruffles of net, and a chapel train. Her head piece was of imported illusion net and held her finger-tip veil. She carried a white prayer book with a white orchid and Stephanotis.

Miss Magdeline Cramer of Nazareth RD 3 was maid-of-honor, and Winnie Roberts, Jean Long-enback and Lorine Detweiler were bridesmaids. They wore floor length gowns of net with fitted bodices, lace jackets to match, and headpieces of beads forming hearts. They were in rainbow colors of aqua, yellow, pink and orchid.

Frank Nicoletti of Bangor was best man, and the ushers were Patrick Schluene, and Leonard Piccirilli, both of Bangor RD 3, and Albert Frable of Nazareth RD.

A reception was held at the VFW Home at Mayer's Crossing.

The bride attended Pen Argyl High School and the bridegroom Bangor High School. They were both employed at Vinnie Blouse Co., Wind Gap.

Missionary Group Welcomes New Member

Henryville — When the Paradise Women's Society of World Service held their June meeting on Thursday night, they welcomed a new member, Mrs. Lewis Tucker. Mrs. Edna Canale held the meeting in her home. Presiding over the meeting was its president, Mrs. Paul Barry, who offered the opening prayer. Scripture was read by Mrs. Martha Henry, after which minutes were read by Miss Lulu Henry.

The members agreed to hold the July and August meetings on Wednesday nights rather than Thursday nights. They were reminded to continue saving their old nyons to send to Japan, where war widows are employed in re-weaving them or making articles from them. Anyone in the area is invited to save their nyons for this project if they themselves do not use them for making other articles. All members renewed their "World Evangelist" subscriptions, including two new subscriptions, Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. Canale. Members agreed to save their canceled stamps to send to the Philadelphia Bible Club Movement.

A report on the recent annual WSCS Convention was given by those who attended. Mrs. Martha Henry, Miss Lulu Henry and Mrs. Vida Spangenberg. The program presented by Mrs. Edna Canale had as its theme "If You Are Going to Plant", and was centered about the young people.

Following the meeting, a social time was enjoyed, with a variety of refreshments served by the hostess and her son William. Those present were: Mrs. Martha Henry, Miss Lulu Henry, Mrs. Vida Spangenberg, Mrs. Walter Lindstedt, Mrs. Steward Bush, Mrs. Lewis Tucker, Mrs. Paul Barry, the hostess, Mrs. Edna Canale, and her son William.

Next meeting will be held on July 25 at the home of Mrs. Laura Goll and daughter, Winnie.

val, to be held the week of July 9 through 14, will be discussed at the meeting, a large attendance is urged.

Erie Wedding Is Of Local Interest

Miss Carol Mary Metzgar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Metzgar, of 2711 Wellington Road, was married on June 23, in Westminster Presbyterian Church, Erie, to Elwin Fred Baylis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Baylis, Zenia, Ohio. The bride's father is a former resident of Bartonsville, and she has many local relatives.

Mrs. Mary Groner, of 729 Bryant St., Stroudsburg, a great aunt attended the ceremony which was followed by a dinner at Pulaski Tradition House.

The bride wore a waltz-length gown of nylon cotton with a scoop neckline and full skirt trimmed with lace panels. She wore a small crown to hold her shoulder-length veil and carried a white prayer book with an orchid.

She was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Richard S. Metzgar, of Buffalo.

Donald Link of Zenia, Ohio, was best man. Ushers were Richard S. Metzgar, Buffalo and David Dawson of Zenia.

The newlyweds will reside in Columbus, Ohio where Mr. Baylis will complete his study in the School of Architecture, Ohio State University. He is in his final year of a five-year architecture course.

His bride was graduated from McDowell High School, Erie, in 1955, and attended Whittenburg College, Springfield, Ohio.

Luncheon Launches Girls For Round-Up

Monroe County's representatives to the International Girl Scout Round-up were sent on their way at a luncheon held at the Clifton in Easton on Thursday for the girls from this area. Jean Igler and Christine Clark are the girls who will attend the Round-up. They took the train for Wilkes-Barre, Buffalo, where they were to attend Cinema, and then to Pontiac on a night trip.

Present to wish them bon voyage were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Igler, Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, William Clark Jr., Mrs. LeRoy Koehler and Mrs. Alfred Munson who attended the luncheon. Mrs. Edward Tracey, Round-up chairman from Easton, was in charge.

Television cameras will show scenes from the round-up on Monday morning at 9:30.

New Dishes Give Lift To Summer Meals, Appetites

Summer menus get a lift when here's a pleasing appetizer, a Dissolve pkg. lime-flavored gelatin in 1 pt. boiling water.

When slightly thickened, fold in 1 1/2 c. cantaloupe or honeydew melon, cut in 1/2-in. balls. Turn into individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce.

This is a versatile dish. With a dab of mayonnaise it serves as a salad or served plain, with crisp cookies, it makes a simple dessert after a hearty main course.

Tomato Bisque, an elegant soup, is the sort of thing that appears on fine restaurant menus.

To serve 6, heat 2 c. canned tomatoes, then strain.

Add 2 tsp. quick-cooking tapioca, 1 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. pepper and butter to strained tomato juice.

Cook in double boiler 15 min. or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Add 2 tsp. butter.

When ready to serve, pour slowly into 3 c. top milk or light cream, scalded.

For Luncheon Deviled Shrimp makes a good luncheon or supper dish, since it is light, pleasing and has plenty of good protein.

Two serve 6, saute 2 tsp. minced onion in 1/2 c. melted butter until delicately browned. Add 2 c. chopped, cooked or canned shrimp, tsp. paprika, 1/2 tsp. mustard, 1/4 tsp. salt, dash of cayenne and 6 tsp.

Presswomen Adopt Creed Of Mrs. Hicks

Washington — Mrs. T. M. B. Hicks, associate editor of the weekly Dallas (Pa.) Post, in writing the creed just adopted by the Pennsylvania Women's Press Assn., expresses the principles by which most of us in the profession aspire to live.

"I wrote it over and over again before I felt I had covered the basic ideals by which people in the newspaper profession today mean to abide," the silvery-haired woman editor told me at a meeting of the association which I was invited to attend.

Here is what Mrs. Hicks put together, and it seems worthwhile to pass along for everyone, whether he be writer, reader or TV commentator, politician or just a neighbor talking with another neighbor over the backyard fence.

"Father in Heaven: Help us never to forget our solemn responsibility in writing for the press. Help us to bear ever in mind that we are dealing not only in events but in human souls. That a story, once printed, is out of our hands forever; that no humble retraction, no abject apology, can ever overtake it or cancel it out; that character and reputation are fragile things, withering in the blast of ill-timed publicity.

"Let us make a solemn pact with conscience that no innocent person shall be crucified by distortion of fact, or by innuendo; that no sorrowing family shall find its burden increased by inept handling of a story; that we never demean ourselves or our profession by making a burnt offering of human decency."

Melicks Here From California

Mr. and Mrs. William Melick Jr., and daughter, Mary Lou, of Sacramento, Cal., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Melick Sr., and Mrs. Melick's mother, Mrs. George Biggs, all of Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Melick is associated with Campbell's Soup Co., in Sacramento. Mrs. Melick is a teacher at Folsom High School, Folsom, Cal.

Chocolate Tapioca Cream will add delicate flavor and goodness to a luncheon or supper party—that is, of course, if waistline-watching is not important!

Add 1 1/2 c. quick-cooking tapioca, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate cut in pieces, 1/4 c. sugar, 1/4 tsp. salt, to 4 c. milk, scalded.

Cook in top of double boiler 15 min. or until tapioca is clear, stirring constantly.

Stir Vigorously Pour small amount of tapioca mixture over 1 slightly beaten egg yolk, stirring vigorously. Return to double boiler and cook until thickened.

Remove from fire and add tsp. vanilla. Fold a small amount into 1 stiffly beaten egg white. Add to remaining tapioca mixture and blend. Garnish with whipped cream.

AAUW Awards To Scholars Reach New High

The members of the Stroudsburg branch of the American Association of University Women, through their Book Fair, contributed an average of $250 per member this year to the national AAUW's fellowship fund, making their sixth in the state.

The list of awards has just been announced by the American Association of University Women, and reach a new peak. The sum of $106,250 in 1956-57 fellowships to 49 outstanding women scholars. The figure represents an increase of $20,050 over last year's stipends.

The 1956-57 AAUW awards range from $1500 to $3500, with the majority in the $2000 to $2500 category. This year's awards afford a striking contrast to the first one offered by the Association—a single fellowship amounting to $500 given in 1899.

AAUW stipends are awarded for advance research. The recipients are chosen because they show promise of distinguished creative scholarly work on projects which will add significantly to the store of knowledge in their fields. They are usually given to women who have already received the Ph. D. degree, or who have completed all requirements for that degree except for the dissertation. Choice of subject and place of study are unrestricted. The AAUW has also awarded Gamma Phi Beta the Lindsey Barbee Fellowship of $1000 for candidates in the field of social work.

The 49 awards announced today by the AAUW Fellowship Awards Committee have been made to 41 women from the United States and eight international fellows from the Philippines, South Africa, Brazil, Norway, Argentina, England, Thailand, and Israel.

Thirty-six of this year's recipients are under 35 years of age and the remaining are between 36 and 54 years old. Eighteen are married and ten of these have children.

Fields of study represented by fellowship projects include: Archaeology, art history, anatomy, biochemistry, biology, botany, economics, Egyptology, endocrinology, English, genetics, geogra-

Picnic Tonight

Fidella Class of St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg will have a covered dish picnic tonight at 6 at the Stroudsburg Playground. Members are asked to bring a covered dish, their own beverage and table service.

phy, geology, history, literature and language, philosophy, physics, psychology, social case work, sociology, Spanish, and zoology.

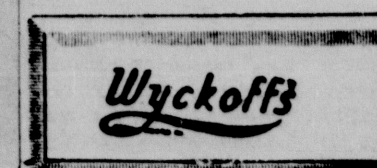

"Are you in the mood to be interrupted?" my younger son demanded, barging into the radio studio when I was involved in cutting a tape. "Guess what happened? I just found a bag at Wyckoff's with some jewelry in it and I took it to the switchboard, and they sent it to the jewelry department and my name was written on it, and if it isn't claimed after while I'll get it and you can have it. Isn't that something?" I admitted that it was—but somehow I sensed this was only part of the reason for the interruption. "How much will all this cost me?" He grinned. "Nothing really, but do you suppose I could have some money to go to the carnival tonight?" Salesmanship, that's what it was, and every youngster is a master at it.

Margaret LaBar, head of our Wyckoff drapery department, gave us a treat for the eyes Friday when she arrived at work wearing a sheath dress of a popular Cyrus Clark chintz. With gold a white background, this fine quality chintz makes up as beautifully overlay and huge pink flowers on in apparel as it does in draperies and home decorations. We can imagine that Maggie would look breathtakingly effective against a window draped in the same manner.

The dress interested several of our customers to the extent that they asked Margaret if she'd object to their copying her idea. Interested as she is in selling fabrics, you can imagine her answer! Incidentally, this same chintz dress created quite a furore when Margaret attended the Cyrus Clark dinner in New York recently. In fact, she was presented with a white orchid and was the only buyer present dressed so properly to honor her host. As Maggie says, "I'm telling you, this dress is REALLY made, too. It's lined with chromspun—also from our Wyckoff drapery department."

May Coffman is another buyer whose mind is on her work even though she's vacationing. From Pine Plains, N. Y., comes a card to Betty Bartholomew of our merchandise office, showing three bathing-suited refugees from a corset department. Their smiles are wide, believe me, so are their hips. "If you're broad minded, things are shaping up here in a big way," says the card. I'll bet when it caught May's eye on the card rack, she automatically reached for a tape measure.

Don't know whether most men favor pink shirts or not—but their wives certainly do, and those beautiful Arrows in oxford cloth and broadcloth went out of our store by the dozen the other morning. It's surprising how many women shop the men's department for shirts to wear with their own shirts, jeans and skirts. Frankly I think color flatters the male complexion just as much as it does the female, and I'm all in favor of men being in the pink. "It's a sissy color," some gentlemen have been heard to grumble. But that's ridiculous. Just try and make an he-man look sissy whatever color fabric or fashion he adopts. I just can't be done!

THE RECORD

By Bob Clark
Sports Editor

TODAY'S list of professional linkmen in the annual Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament at Glen Brook Country Club reads like a Who's Who agenda.

When the likes of Skeet Riegal, Harry Obitz, Johnny Long, host Tommy Midiri and probable starter Johnny Weitzel tee off, followers of the game should be treated to some of the finest play seen on the local course in many a moon.

The pros, mostly from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, will have one top flight amateur as a partner in the 18-hole best-ball-of-partners classic. For instance, Glen Brook professional Midiri will have as his sidekick Augie Lockwitz, certainly not a weak combination on any course.

Nine times out of ten the pros carry the load. And this is the way it should be. However, once in awhile a good amateur will teach his buddy a lesson on the 18 hole tour.

That is one of the good features of golf. Someone can come up at any given period and grab the world by a string. Jack Fleck, 1955 winner of the U. S. Open is an example of this.

We've seen Obitz in exhibitions and the current threat to Jimmy Demaret as the Beau Brummel of the Links was superb. We've eyed Weitzel on his home Hershey Links and the mid-starter was so hot that the famed chocolate bar melted with his sizzling play.

We've followed Henry Williams, another entrant, and was amazed at his coolness in face of overwhelming odds.

These are just a few that have come under our glasses. Other fans tell me that Bobby Schoener, Jr., Green Pond's free-swinging, is potentially great; also that ex-Shawnee favorite Stan Dudas stuns the crowd with his accuracy; and that Sam Penacale, Bala's pace-maker, broke par the first time he swung around Glen Brook.

Altogether 50 teams—50 pros and 50 amateurs—will swing into action today, starting at 9 a. m. It should reveal quite an array of shotmakers and unless we miss our guess it would be quite an opportunity for the duffers to get a "free" lesson while tramping along with the boys.

Jimmy Cannon, one of our few favorite columnists on Metropolitan sports sheets has come out with a "Handy Guide to The Sports Pages."

While the sarcastic-type "dictionary" is too long to print here we thought a few were worth mentioning.

Preliminary Fighter—One who is managed by an honest manager.

3-5 Shot—A 3-5 shot is a 3-1 shot ridden by Eddie Arcaro.

Play By Play Announcer—A beer salesman who roosts out loud for the home team.

Line Coach—An ex-tackler who is paid to convince linemen that teeth are not important.

A Good Manager—A good manager is one who is working.

Strouds Maintain Grip On Pocono Mt. Lead

Lake Harmony Holds 2nd; Saylorsburg Notches No. 6; Barrett, Reiders Post Wins

THE STROUDS and Lake Harmony continued their neck and neck battle for the leadership in the Pocono Mountain League yesterday as both turned in victories. League leading Strouds turned back Kunkletown 4-1, while Lake Harmony snuck by Anallomink 7-5.

In other action, Saylorsburg took a grip on fourth place by blanketing West End A. C. 8-0; Barrett moved up the ladder by walloping Tannersville 16-8 and Reiders moved to within a half game of fourth place by downing Rushkill 5-2.

Behind Bill Sommers

STROUDSBURG — The Strouds put across three runs in the first game and then marched behind the six-hit hurling of Bill Sommers to down Kunkletown at Gordon Giffels Field.

Successive hits by Danny Eppley, Randy Morris, Dick Gray, Sommers, Ed Yuhas and Russ Staples got the trio over in the opening stanza for the Strouds. The victors added their fourth run in the third on hits by Sommers and Gray.

F. Kresge Homers

Kunkletown's lone tally came in the ninth when Floyd Kresge, Sommers' mound foe, blasted a home run to end the shutout bid.

Rally Not Enough

LAKE HARMONY — Analomink rallied for two runs in the eighth inning but it was not enough to overtake Lake Harmony here.

The victory was the eighth in 10 outings for Lake Harmony, while the loss was the seventh in 10 games for Analomink.

Pete Labosky picked up the mound win for Lake Harmony, despite fine relief work from Bob Arner in the last two frames. Johnson, Analomink starter, was the loser.

Bush paced the Analomink attack with three hits, including a double and triple. McGinley went three-for-five for the victors. Becker homered for Lake Harmony.

Rowing History Repeats Itself As Yale Whips Navy, Cornell

By MURRAY ROSE

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 1 (AP)—Rowing history repeated itself today as a young, rangy and confident Yale eight whipped Cornell and Navy's Admirals, the 1952 Olympic champions, in a spectacular final drive to earn the right to represent the United States in the Olympic Games in Melbourne.

Uncle Sam's Hopefuls In Track 'Finest'

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, July 1 (AP)—Uncle Sam's greatest aggregation of track and field athletes scattered in all directions today, not to reassemble formally until around Oct. 15 for the final push to Australia and the Olympic Games.

Optimism was extremely high for another team triumph for the United States in the international classic at Melbourne in November and December.

Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, president of the U. S. Olympic Committee, called this outfit of 50 or more young men "the finest in our history."

Head Coach Jim Kelly of Minnesota echoed the Wilson sentiments. And so did almost everyone else as they reviewed a trail of three world records surpassed, two equalled and a mess of meet records smashed in the two-day final tryouts which ended yesterday.

Boys To Relay

"Now we want the boys who made the team to rest and relax," Kelly said. "They have had a long and very tiring season, building up to the tryouts."

"They must stay in shape, of course. But now is the time for them to let down a bit. There will be plenty of time this fall for them to condition themselves and regain the peak form they showed here. I am not one bit worried. These are fine kids. They'll stay in shape. And they will be in top form by the time the games come along."

Where there was joy today for those who made the team, there was the expected keen disappointment for those who failed—by chance, by injury or whatever.

Old age probably caught up with two ex-Olympic champions, Mal Whitfield, 31, and Harrison Dillard, 33. Injury forced out sprinter Dave Sime and hampered pole vaulter Don Bragg.

But for the successful, such as record makers Lou Jones, of the 400 meters, Charley Dumas of 7-foot high jump fame and Glenn Davis of the 400 meter hurdles, all was joy and brightness.

Barrett Lions Win Makeup Tilt

BARRETT—Barrett Lions scored a 19-1 victory over Tobeyhanna in a first half makeup game in the Pocono Little League here Saturday.

Jimmy Siglin hurled two-hit ball for the Lions and also chipped in with three hits, including a triple. Jerry Reilly paced Barrett at the plate with four-for-five, including three doubles.

The Ells took command at the 1400-meter mark of the 2,000-meter (mile, 427 yards) final of the Olympic Trials and pulled steadily ahead to edge Cornell's two-time Intercollegiate Rowing Assn. titlest by three-quarters of a length with the entire field of five shells blanketed within two lengths of each other.

Navy Third

The Admirals, a fabulous band of oarsmen who were reassembled back in February in the hopes of becoming the first eight to win two successive Olympic titles, took third place about a length behind the Big Red.

Washington's Huskies, who broke the course record with the aid of a tail wind yesterday to qualify for the final, was three-tenths of a second behind the Admirals with Wisconsin fifth.

Just 32 years ago, another Yale crew, ruined the bid of Navy's 1920 Olympic champs in the 1921 trials.

Stroked by 19-year-old Bob Morley of Short Hills, N. J., Yale was timed in 6:33.5. Cornell's time was 6:36.2, Navy's 6:37.5, Washington's 6:37.8 and Wisconsin's 6:40.8.

Earned Chance

Jack Kelly Jr., earned a third and final chance at the Olympic gold medal when he rowed a beautifully controlled race to beat young Walter Hoover Jr., of the Detroit Boat Club by a length and a half.

The other winners on the seven-event program were the Buffalo West Side Rowing Club's four with coxswain in 7:13.5; the Stanford Crew Assn.'s pairs with coxswain in 8:46.5; the Detroit Boat Club's four without coxswain in 7:12; and the veteran double sculls pair of Pat Costello Jr. and Jim Gardner of the Detroit Boat Club.

Rough Time On Finding Nag Champs

STANTON, Del., July 1 (AP)—Fillies and mares, usually as fickle as a woman, are having a mighty tough time deciding on a champion this year.

Just when it appeared that Miz Clementine, the 6-year-old with the musical name from the Calumet Farm, had the title in the bag, at least as far as the East was concerned, along came Flower Bowl, a 4-year-old daughter of the Australian sire, Alibhai, had won only five of her 22 starts and never a stake until she swept past the field in the last night of a mile Saturday to earn $109,750. Her previous earnings were only $27,400.

STARTING LINEUP—Here is the starting lineup of the American League team in the All-Star game in Washington July 10. The players were selected by a national vote of fans. Each must start and play at least three innings unless forced out by injuries.

Slim Holiday Week Card Scheduled On Fistic Front

By JACK HAND

The Associated Press

IN SHARP CONTRAST to the old days when heavyweight title bouts were fought on Independence Day, boxing presents a slim holiday week program.

The Monday show from St. Nicholas Arena in New York brings together Joey Giardello of Philadelphia and Tony Baldoni, a willing but crude workman from Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Giardello has been beaten twice in New York by Charlie Boston since he got his license back in April. This time he figures to win this 10-round midweight match.

Miceli To Fight

Joe Miceli, the left-uppercut expert from New York who is No. 8 among the welterweights, tops the Wednesday show on the holiday by boxing Maurice Harper of Oakland, Calif., at the Oakland Auditorium. Harper has been out of action since August, 1955 and Miceli has lost two of three this year.

The Friday fight from Madison Square Garden matches a Joey Lopez, Sacramento, Calif., lightweight, with Paolo Rosi of Italy. Lopez has won four of five this year, losing only to Ludwig Lightburn. Rosi won his only start, April 14, outpointing Sal DiGuardia.

Dumont TV

The Giardello-Baldoni scrap will be seen on TV. DuMont, in some sections, Miceli-Harper gets the network radio-TV, ABC, treatment and Lopez-Rosi also will be carried on radio and TV, NBC.

Ousted List High At Half Tennis Mark

By ROBERT JONES

WIMBLEDON, England, July 1 (AP)—The 70th championship organized by the exclusive All-England Lawn Tennis Club is over the halfway mark today and if you want the winner, you'd better reach for the nearest pin.

So far, the outstanding feature of the world's premier tennis tournament has been the dull thud of toppling seeded players.

Eight seeds a week ago started the long trek to a center-court final and fame, now there are four—1953 winner Vic Seixas and Ham Richardson from the United States and Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall from Australia.

Here's the casualty list so far: Jaroslav Drobný, Egypt, ousted in a first-round upset by young Ramanathan Krishnan from India. Budge Patty, Los Angeles, and Sven Davidson, Sweden, knocked out in the second round by Britain's Bobby Wilson and Australian Neale Fraser respectively. Kurt Nielsen, the mustachioed Dane, beaten in the third round by Luis Ayala of Chile.

Also around—apart from the remaining seeds—are Al Morris, a likeable kid from Atlanta, Ga., who chews gum on court because he says he wants to look mean,

Nebel's Face Tucker's In Tournament

TUCKER'S Chevrolet will face Nebel's Market today in a softball game which could decide the champion of the Monroe Softball Tournament.

The contest, slated for the Stroudsburg Playground Field, starting at 6 p. m., will bring together hurling stars Gail Fegley for Tucker's and Johnny Heckman of Nebel's.

Tucker's, once beaten in the double-elimination classic, must win today in order to throw the tournament into another game.

1st Half Champs

Nebel's, first half champions in the Monroe County Softball League, have swept through all foes in the tournament, thus far.

If another game is necessary it probably will be played tomorrow at the same time and site.

Grand Circuit Trots Today At Historic

GOSHEN — Historic Grand Circuit Harness Horse Racing opens here today.

She's the Egyptian Princess, Owned by Clearview Stables of Winthrop, Me., the Guy Abbey offspring won the $15,000 Invitational three-year-old trot at Roosevelt last week, coming home in 1:01 2-5. She was clocked in 2:05 3-5 for the mile, and thus stepped right into the picture as one of the leading three-year-old trotters.

Egyptian Princess, backed by descendants of the five and dime Woolworths, will enter the $15,000 Coaching Club Trotting Oaks at Historic Monday, opening day of the great five afternoon Grand Circuit race meeting.

Expected to match trotting strides with Egyptian Princess are Be Lucky, Blenda Harpner, Cadence Hanover, Gaynina, Maria Hanover, Nora Frost and others.

None of the field that she beat at Roosevelt will be entered in the Coaching Club.

Should Egyptian Princess score an impressive victory in the Coaching Club, she'll become one of the top contenders for the 1956 Hambletonian.

Davidson College in North Carolina has an aptly-named swimming captain for 1957. He is Tommy Rivers.

Pros And Amateurs Ready For Glen Brook Tournament

FIFTY professionals and 50 amateurs are set to tee off today in the third annual Pro-Amateur Best-Ball-Of-Partners Golf Tournament at the Glen Brook Country Club.

The professionals, dotted with some of the best linksmen in the east, will have for the most part No. 1 amateurs from their home clubs as partners in the 18-hole, one-day classic.

'Good Shape'

Tony Midiri, host pro of Glen Brook, announced last night that the local course is in "top shape" and that some par-busting scores could come out of the star-studded field.

The links contingent is slated to start swinging away at 9 a. m., with the last group slated to tee off at 2:30 p. m. Midiri said that the "champions" should be known by 6:30 p. m.

Area Represented

Professionals and amateurs from practically every country club and golf organization in the Lehigh and Delaware Valleys will be represented in the tournament.

Other stars from other parts of Pennsylvania, and the states of New Jersey and Delaware are scheduled to appear in the competition.

Varsity "E" To Elect Aides

THE VARSITY "E" Club of East Stroudsburg will elect officers at a meeting today at the Mt. Tom Inn starting at 7:30 p. m. All members are urged to be present.

OFF MIKE

by Joe Whalen

To ask for the magic formula in creating a hit tune is like requesting the winner's name in the feature race next Saturday at Belmont. Let it be known—there is no set procedure. If you were to poll the most successful and prolific contemporary composers, you would get this answer:

There are, of course, trends that might be followed; compositions might be slanted toward a certain "type" of music . . . but here again, there's no guarantee of what may happen. Currently, the best prospects are to write along the lines of Rock 'n Roll. A check with music charts shows that 50 to 60 per cent of the tunes on these lists are rockin' and rollin'. And even with this mass popularity of a classified style there are waste baskets filled with songs that didn't make it. On top of this, no one knows when the current fad will fade.

But not all popular tunes are Rock 'n Roll. Listed among the top 30, are melodies like "Picnic & Moonlight," "Wayward Wind," "Poor People of Paris" and "Standing on the Corner." These run more toward a ballad or soft style and have a great following. Of course, Broadway and motion pictures have always had an influence on what America likes and buys and it appears more than at any time, this influence is prevalent now.

For instance, the production "My Fair Lady" has three tunes on best seller lists.

Timing, naturally, is important. This is hard to pin point, though. Just what is the right time is anyone's guess. And so it goes . . . one stumbling block after another. There are a few magic music makers around; people who have an uncanny touch in putting on paper a song that will be liked and wanted by a large, representative audience. These are few.

If one has aspirations for the popular music field, he should be prepared for many rejection slips. However, he may just hit the big time with his first composition, which proves this is, to say the least, an unpredictable business.

PROGRAM NOTES: . . . the way to forget the summer heat is with "Summer Serenade" Monday and Friday at 10:45 . . . members of the Bushkill Playhouse are on hand each Monday evening at 7:55 with Peacock Talent Time, a show that blends music and talent for pleasant listening . . . while on the subject of pleasant listening, be sure to catch Charley McCarthy daily at 11:30 playing the Hammond organ from the Penn Stroud's Strand Tavern . . . big mid-week double-header set for Wed., July 4 with the Yankees and Red Sox providing the thrills. Take your portable with you and enjoy the games which get under way at 1:55 . . . something new at the 840 spot: "The Peacock Traveler" each Saturday at 7:55 who visits various points of interest around these mountains with suggestions on where to go and dine for an enjoyable time! . . . ## Lead fouling is like a leaky gas tank

If your gas tank looked like this, you'd get it repaired mighty fast. But when lead fouling does its dirty work under your car's hood you're wasting gas . . . just as if the tank leaked.

Lead fouling is caused by lead deposits that form on pistons, valves and plugs. And lead deposits come from only one thing, gasoline with tetraethyl lead in it. That's true of any leaded gasoline regardless of its fancy color, fancy pump or fancy name. What's more, no additive in the world can remove these fouling deposits, once they form.

One gas . . . just one . . . contains no lead, can never leave a lead deposit. That's Amoco-Gas, the only gas that's all gas. It can all burn, it's all power. 100% POWER! And it guarantees no lead fouling with all the anti-knock power that any car can use. See the difference for yourself when you buy it . . . Amoco-Gas is clear white. See the difference when you use it . . . a mileage record you can brag about!

Heat Fails To Explain Everything

By SAUL PETT
NEW YORK, July 1 (AP) — The heat explained a lot of things last week, but not everything.

A girl reporter in Charleston, S. C., took a picture of singer Elvis Presley. He bit her on the hand. She complained. He said he was only being friendly. She said this was a unique display of friendship. He said, "Lady, if you want to get ahead, you gotta be different."

In London, a man came home to find his wife, naked, drinking tea with a man also naked. The husband sued for divorce. It was denied on the grounds that she and her friend were nudists and were up to nothing more than tea. Besides, the man was her ex-husband.

In St. Louis, Edward Balk balked at the short haircut he was getting, broke the barber's arm, was hauled into court and fined $500 for disturbing the peace.

And then there was the traveling salesman named John Patrick O'Toole, 25, out of Los Angeles. Seems he was awaiting trial here on seven counts of forgery.

While in jail, two women obtained annulments of their marriages to him. One is expecting a child. Both said he was already married when they wed. A third woman showed up to say he was still legally married to her under another name. All three said the traffic in wives was so heavy they sometimes bumped into each other.

A less complicated marital arrangement was dissolved in Mount Vernon, Ind., when the William J. Staleys were divorced. He said they were separated 20 years ago. Staley is 91. His ex-wife is 88.

Two Fishermen Drown In Delaware As Boat Capsizes

MILFORD, N. J., July 1 (AP) — Two fishermen drowned in the Delaware River late Saturday night after their boat capsized, despite the valiant rescue efforts of a third fisherman.

The bodies of Joseph Nazek, 41, of 116 Colwell St., Conshohocken, Pa., and Elwood Ritter, 32, of Oxford Circle, Norristown, Pa., were recovered by search crews early today some 10 yards from the Jersey shore.

Ritter and Nazek were on the night fishing expedition a mile north of here with Alexander Knaecke, 40, of Conshohocken, when they decided to return home.

Tight Circle
As they started the outboard motor to head for shore 20 yards away, the boat suddenly turned in a tight circle and upset, spilling the three into the water.

Frenchtown police said Knaecke later recalled that Ritter shouted for help. Knaecke went to his aid and started towing him to shore by his belt.

Suddenly Nazek called for help and since Ritter appeared to be able to make it to shore, Knaecke turned him loose and swam to aid Nazek.

In the dim orange light of the new moon, Knaecke could not find Nazek. When he turned toward shore again, Ritter had also disappeared beneath the surface.

McConnell To Sponsor Legislation

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP) — Rep. McConnell (R-Pa.) announced today he will sponsor amendments to federal school legislation in the House to allocate federal aid funds according to state need, and to carry out "important principles stressed by President Eisenhower."

This would indicate that administration Republicans in the House plan to make a fight for the Eisenhower school program.

McConnell, senior Republican on the House Education Committee, said his proposals will be offered as amendments to the $1,400,000,000 school aid bill when the House gets down to the preliminary voting stage tomorrow.

Opposition
Not all Republicans will be behind the administration, or any other, school program. A number are opposed to federal aid to education in any form, saying it is an encroachment on local responsibilities.

Republicans were still uncertain, meanwhile, whether to propose the administration's grant program. This would make 250 million dollars available to the states each year for five years, as against 400 million a year for four years as proposed in the present House bill, by Rep. Kelley (D-Pa.).

The GOP moves are expected to intensify prospective battles over a variety of efforts to rewrite the school legislation on the floor of the House.

Engineers To Launch Water Study

PHILADELPHIA, July 1 (AP) — The Philadelphia District Corps of Army Engineers, will start a survey of the water needs of more than 25 million residents in the Delaware River basin this week.

Federal, state and interstate agencies including the Atomic Energy Commission will cooperate in the long-range study. It will be done with $500,000 appropriated last week by Congress for the survey of water resources, flood control and hydroelectric development of the river.

The survey will cover 12,700 square miles in the river basin and 4,000 square miles in adjacent territory, reaching from the Delaware Capes to the headwaters of the river at West Branch in the Catskill Mountains.

Problem
Lt. Col. John Lee, in charge of the Delaware Valley report, said the major problem to be studied is the location of a dam site in the vicinity of Delaware Water Gap. It would have a huge water storage basin and flood control pool.

Two sites have been suggested. One is Wallpack Bend, just below Bushkill Falls, and the other is Tushnet Island, 10 miles above the gap.

Pennsylvania and New Jersey will soon hold hearings to lay the groundwork for actual construction of a Delaware River Dam.

Lee said the comprehensive report is expected to be completed in 1959 and turned over to the President the following year. It will consider all uses of the water.

"We will project our thinking at least 100 years in order to be relatively sure that we have looked into future needs as well as present demands," Lee said. "We will examine and report on every structure necessary for the full implementation of the plan, whether construction is to be by Federal state or local interests."

MONDAY, JULY 2, 1956
March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Venus, the Moon and Jupiter, in excellent array, favor personal achievement, financial and artistic gains. But, remember, be your smartest self.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — A grand outlook! Don't permit poor thoughts or doubt to defeat aims and purposes. This can be YOUR day for big attainment, happiness, too. May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Do not let dimension or unpleasantness spoil the fruitful and beneficial outcome of this helpful day. Finance, sound business and honest work under fine auspices.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — A peak period for advancement. Today highly favors the arts, science, study, music, also home and romantic interests.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — A good day for gains although you may not be able to win favors or an increase in salary. Keep striving for real advancement and, in the meantime, make the best of today's fine offerings.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Note Gemini's influences are still far now. The less ruffled you are the less worried, the more you will gain. This day can be a happy one for you yourself, bright folks. Business favored.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Healthy aspect with your Venus and other planets well positioned. Whatever your occupation it can succeed or advance. Your innate artistry and skill can pay big dividends.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)

Show your skill and efficiency, your advertising ideas. A day for advancement in any line. Favorable stars smile on all useful endeavors. Improve them.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Encouraging for your special talents and ability; also for improvement in studies, work and professions. Stubbornness, too much self-assurance can stand in your way. Be amenable, full of fun, eager to carry out duties but do not be too forceful. Gracefulness pays.

December 22 to January 19 (Aquarius) — While extra care is suggested in matters that may require change or sudden decisions, the day is favorable on the whole, and can prove satisfactory for most endeavors.

January 20 to February 18 (Pisces) — Care suggested in confidential matters and those connected with water, swimming, etc. Day splendid for household and personal affairs, your business, work. YOU BORN TODAY are sincere, deeply fond of home and family, yet, debaters, salesmen and women, talented for entertaining, caring for children and the ill. You make able lawyers, debaters, salesmen and women, personable actors and outpourful social politicians. You have all-round capability; could train for a trade, mechanics, as scientist; can really make a success of any undertaking for which you train. Control a tendency to argue, also a liking for too much change.

Committee Project Group Holds Meeting

AN ORIENTATION meeting for young people who make up the American Friends Service Committee project group was held yesterday at the Legion home in East Stroudsburg.

The young people start to work at the playground this morning at 9. They will work daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. except Saturday and Sunday.

Volunteers to work with the group are needed from the local community. All persons willing to spend some time working for the rehabilitation of the playground are asked to contact Lewis Hastie, playground director.

Yesterday's meeting was held at 3 p.m. It was opened with a devotional period led by Stewart Duboff, Lewis Bush and Gregory Hale, members of the project team.

Chairman
Ralph O. Burrows, chairman of the borough board of education, welcomed the youths to the community. He then introduced Jesse R. S. Flory, East Stroudsburg burgess, who addressed the group briefly.

Other borough officials introduced were Travis Seese, chief of Police and Herbert Rupprecht, councilman and member of the recreation board. Leon Koster, former chairman of the board, also welcomed the group.

Mrs. Horace G. Walters, curator of the Monroe County Historical Society museum in Stroudsburg, traced the history of the county and gave each member of the team one of the historical maps published by the society.

Rev. B. H. Hostetter, president of the East Stroudsburg Ministerium, expressed a welcome to the young people on behalf of area churches. Rev. Hostetter showed the group the "excellent directory listing church services in all local areas" which is published each Saturday by the Daily Record. A copy of the directory was posted on a bulletin board for use by the youths.

Knights To Hold Meeting

THE EXECUTIVE board of the Father Butler Council, Knights of Columbus will hold its initial meeting of the 1956-57 term at 8 o'clock at St. Matthew's School.

Grand Knight-elect John Garrity announced that ritual and ceremonial data will be transferred at this meeting. For that reason, all newly-elected board members, as well as those who served during the last council year, are urged to attend.

Planning
Garrity also stated that preliminary planning for council activities and affairs for the coming year will be discussed and activities carried over from last year will be coordinated with the new program so that there will be no let-down in the early part of the council year because of formulation of new committees.

New officers will be installed with council ceremonies at the regular meeting July 16.

Joint Board To Feature First Session

TONIGHT at 8, Pocono Mountain Joint School District officially is born.

Action to formally start the jointure—Monroe County's largest in terms of districts included—will be taken in a meeting at Mount Pocono school.

First step on the agenda will be the election of officers. From then on out, in what promises to be a long, step-by-step process, the joint board will go over interim actions taken by its steering committee.

This committee, functioning on direct order of the separate boards involved, has been doing its best during the past five months to pave a smooth road for the jointure in its early, formative, official months.

Called the "Interim Steering Committee," Pocono Mountain Joint Schools, the group has discussed most of the problems with which the jointure will be faced in early weeks. These include the standardization of textbooks, transportation problems, maintenance of schools, setting up of a potential program for new school construction.

Seven Townships
The joint district is made up of seven townships and one borough. The borough is Mount Pocono. The townships are: Tunkhannock, Tobyhanna, Paradise, Pocono, Jackson, Coolbaugh and Barrett.

One of the basic aims of the new jointure is a new secondary school to serve all students in the district.

Two months ago the interim committee gave tentative approval to C. Willis Dunlap, supervising principal of Tobyhanna Township Schools, as the supervising principal for the overall joint school system. This action is one of the first which will come before the joint board tonight.

Members of the steering committee were selected from each board. Harry J. Drennan has served as temporary chairman of the committee and David E. Nelson has been temporary secretary.

The jointure was approved by all eight boards on Nov. 22, 1955 at Paradise Township School, Swiftwater. It was submitted to the Monroe County Board of Education the following month and approved by the board. Forwarded to the State Department of Public Instruction, the jointure proposal also won approval in Harrisburg, in January, this year.

Under the school code, all jointures became effective on the first Monday in July following State approval. This is the date.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony D. Sabla and Mrs. Margaret Genovese of Stamford, Conn. were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony G. Sabla.

Gino Cogoli, a member of the crew of the SS Nassau is visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Goffredo and family.

Seven Plus X girls, Donna Maria Caracelo, Maria Giacinto, Phyllis Commune, Antoinette Cappozolo, Roseann Goffredo, Pena Trigiani, and Patty Tepoll will pursue a course of study in Journalism at Catholic University in Washington, D. C. The summer session will equip the girls to staff their year book. Mrs. Anthony Commune and Mrs. Garner, the latter a physical education teacher at the school will chaperone the group.

Final plans have been made by the American Legion Post in preparation for the district convention of American Legion to be held today in Roseto. All citizens are urged to have all property cleared of any debris which will detract from the natural beauty of the town. A warm welcome is extended to all neighbors to attend the ceremonies to be held in honor of the participating legion posts.
